Workshop on Mitigating the Hazard of Permafrost-thaw Induced Landslides in Alaska and the Arctic

DRAFT Agenda

October 22-24, 2024

I. October 22, 2024 – Pre Workshop Activities being planned

II. October 23, 2024

- 9:00am – 9:45am Introductions, participant goals, and expectations
- 9:45am – 11:00am What do we know about landslide risk in areas of degrading mountain permafrost? How can the collective memory of our residents share the stories of other landslide events? Presentations TBD followed by discussion.
- 11:00am – 11:15 BREAK
- 11:15am – 12:00pm Community leadership in landslide mitigation. Presentations TBD followed by discussion.
- 12:00pm – 1:00pm LUNCH
- 1:00pm – 2:00pm Roles of State and Federal agencies in hazard mitigation and current involvement in landslide research and/or mitigation. Presentations TBD followed by discussion.
- 1:30pm – 3:00pm What can we do to mitigate this hazard to communities, and what resources do we need? Presentations TBD followed by discussion.
- 3:00pm – 3:15pm BREAK
- 3:15pm – 5:00pm What are the gaps in our scientific understanding of the problem and the priority research needs to inform better hazard communication and mitigation? Presentations TBD followed by discussion.
- 7:00pm – 9:00pm Evening event being planned. Details TBD.

III. October 24, 2024

- 9:00am – 10:30am How can we contribute time, expertise, money, and other resources to mitigate these hazards? What are appropriate ways to coordinate, share these burdens, and respect differing priorities and vulnerabilities within local communities? Round table discussion.
- 11:00am – 12:30pm Free time slot to discuss any items that came up during introductions.
- 12:30pm – 1:30pm LUNCH
- 1:30pm – 3:00pm How do we go forward to create meaningful and sustainable mitigation efforts? What are ways of using money and other resources to achieve actual mitigation? Round table discussion.
- 3:00pm – 4:30pm Reporting on this workshop and next steps together and individually.
- 7:00pm – 9:00pm Evening event being planned. Details TBD.
